

I want to protest Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election. This should not be done at all, but if it is, Sinclair should preface the show with an editorial comment as to their decision to air such programming. They should be required to air a similarly pointed pro-Kerry piece like "Going Up River" or the like in order to comply with election rules.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. The overconsolidation of media has been disastrous for the freedom of speech. Companies like Sinclair show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
